Lottery sales surging after 'huge' virus hit

NATIONAL Lottery operator Camelot revealed ticket sales have bounced back from a "huge" hit after Britain went into lockdown as it pledged up to £600million for UK charities to help fight the impact of coronavirus.

Nigel Railton, chief executive of Camelot, said retail ticket sales dropped by 30 per cent in the early weeks of the UK lockdown.

There were also fears EuroMillions draws would have to be cancelled after Spain banned the sale of all lottery tickets in March due to the crisis.

Mr Railton said sales have now almost returned to levels seen before Covid-19, thanks to surging demand online.

Camelot has vowed to hand out £600m of National Lottery funding to help tackle the impact of Covid-19 after a record-breaking £7.9billion in ticket sales for the year to March 31.

Easyjet ready for take-off again

TROUBLED EasyJet will resume flights on half its routes by the end of July.

The Luton-based carrier, which has grounded its entire fleet during the coronavirus pandemic, announced its plan to ramp up flights in the coming weeks.

Half of its 1,022 routes will be reopened by the end of July, increasing to 75 per cent during August.

But flights will be at a lower frequency than normal, meaning the airline will operate at around 30% of its normal capacity between July and September.

No sex please, we're British: Boris Johnson's virus bonk ban

BORIS Johnson's government has faced international mockery over his sex ban.

If the idea that Britain's randiest PM since Lloyd-George imposed a ban on sex is not ridiculous enough, commentators around the world joined in the giggles.

India Today chortled at Britain's ban on "sex with outsider", while News18 – also from India – laughed that "sex with someone you don't live with is illegal in UK from today".

Canada's National Post confirmed that the rules made Britain a target for mockery, while The Australian guffawed "No sex please, we're British" – a gag echoed by the Majorca Daily Bulletin.

Under amendments introduced to the rules on Monday, no person may participate in a gathering in a public or private place indoors and consists of two or more persons.

But junior housing minister Simon Clarke insisted the rules were about keeping people safe.

HANDS OFF: PM's message

He said: "What this is about is making sure we don't have people staying away from home at night."

When asked if the rules allowed couples to copulate outdoors, Mr Clarke chuckled and said: "It is fair to say the transmission risk of coronavirus is much lower in the open air than in internal space, but obviously we do not encourage people to do anything like that outside at this time or any other."

Minsters backpedal over 14-day quarantine plans

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

QUARANTINE-free travel between Britain and some countries could be introduced at the end of this month if infection rates at home and abroad are sufficiently low.

The government is understood to be considering so-called "air bridges" to enable people to travel without having to spend two weeks self-isolating on their return.

Current plans mean all international arrivals – apart from people carrying out a limited number of specified roles – would need to quarantine for 14 days.

The plan has been fiercely criticised by travel and hospitality businesses – and ministers are understood to be considering introducing air bridges when the policy is reviewed three weeks after it comes into force.

Agreements would need to be reached with other countries and PM Boris Johnson reportedly backs the idea.

One media report stated quarantined travellers could go food shopping, change accommodation and use public transport from airports.

But a government source said people would be expected to stay in one home, use private transport and only go outside where absolutely necessary.

Holiday fans have already been left gutted when Spain's tourism minister, María Reyes Maroto, said UK coronavirus figures "still have to improve" before Spain could receive tourists from Britain.

Female teen seized after stab death

A MAN has died of suspected stab injuries after what was believed to be a "domestic incident" in Coventry.

The 18-year-old, who was thought to have been stabbed in Middle Ride, Willenhall, was taken to hospital on Monday evening.

"Unfortunately, despite the best efforts of medical staff he later died," West Midlands Police said.

An 18-year-old woman was arrested on suspicion of murder not long after and is currently in custody.

"The incident is thought to be domestic related and we're not looking for anyone else at this stage," the force said.

Suspect held over deaths of 2 women

A MAN has been arrested on suspicion of murder after two women died at a property in Salisbury.

When Wiltshire Police officers arrived at the address, one of the women was dead while the second was seriously injured.

She was pronounced dead by paramedics at the scene a short time later, police said.

A man in his thirties is in custody in Melksham, Wiltshire.

Detective Chief Inspector Darren Hannant said there was likely to be "a significant police presence in this area for a number of days".

'Human body parts' murder trial date set

A TRIAL date has been set for a man accused of murder after human remains were found in a local park.

Thomas McCann appeared for a brief hearing at Manchester Crown Court via videolink from HMP Forest Bank, Salford.

McCann, 48, of Brinnington, Stockport, was arrested after human body parts were discovered at Reddish Vale Country Park on May 25.

Formal identification has not yet taken place but the woman is believed to be the defendant's wife.

McCann is alleged to have committed murder between May 22 and 25 in Stockport.

A trial date of November 16 was set.

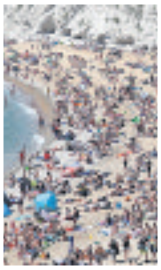
COASTGUARD CALLED TO 447 INCIDENTS



HM Coastguard says it responded to nearly 450 incidents during its "busiest weekend of 2020", as thousands of people across the UK flocked to beaches and beauty spots to enjoy the hot weather.

It warned "coronavirus hasn't gone away" and that "we all need to follow the rules".

On Sunday, it had the highest number of call-outs so far this year, with 241 incidents – a 168 per cent increase on the 2019 May average.

Saturday was its second busiest, with 206 – a total of 447 incidents over the weekend.

In addition, search and rescue helicopters were involved in 50 call-outs and lifeboats were involved in 202.

On Monday, new guidance allowing up to six people to meet outdoors went into effect in England – but there are claims some are flouting the rules.

On Saturday, three people were seriously injured after jumping into the sea from the limestone arch of Durdle Door.

That prompted a council leader to call for a ban on anyone travelling further than five miles, describing "awful scenes" on beaches in Dorset over the weekend.

SERENA'S FANNY LEFT ME IN SHOCK!

Alex recalls NAKED first meeting with tennis ace

TENNIS legend Serena Williams' bare fanny scared the hell out of rival Alexandra Cadantu.

The pair met in the ladies' locker room while preparing for the Australian Open in 2012.

And Romanian player Alexandra says that first meeting with Serena left a lasting impression.

As she saw the Grand Slam legend naked in the locker room, she said she was stunned at "how big she is".

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

It was the first time Cadantu, 30, had made an appearance at a Major tournament.

Titles

She recalled: "The first time I went to a Grand Slam tournament and the first memory I have of going into the locker room was when I saw Serena Williams for the first time in my life.

"I saw her naked and I was in shock for a week, because she's very big.

"It's incredible how she looks, how she can play and move."

The Romanian rose to a career high ranking of world number 59 at the start of 2014, before she began her steady descent to the relatively lowly standing of 292 today.

Williams, meanwhile, continued to rack up her haul of 23 Grand Slam titles – although the 38-year-old Yank has been beaten in her last four major final appearances.

SpaceX billionaire Musk tweets he's 'off Twitter'

ELON Musk has announced he is taking a break from social media – despite being one of the platform's most prolific, high-profile users.

The billionaire SpaceX and Tesla founder (right) said he would be "off Twitter for a while" in a post in the early hours of Tuesday morning.

The tech entrepreneur celebrated a major milestone as SpaceX became the first private company to send humans into orbit, carrying NASA astronauts Robert Behnken and Douglas Hurley to the International Space Station (ISS) over the weekend.

Musk did not confirm why he had decided to take time off Twitter.

Trump threatens to deploy Band of Brothers division as US burns over murder

THE AMERICAN CIVIL WAR

Try ransacking our homes and you'll be SHOT

A HARDBALL sheriff has encouraged homeowners to SHOOT looters using the mayhem in the US to ransack houses.

Sheriff Grady Judd, top lawman in Polk County, Florida, said to would-be looters: "I would tell them, if you value your life, they probably shouldn't do that in Polk County.

"Because the people of Polk County like guns, they have guns, I encourage them to own guns, and they're going to be in their homes tonight with their guns loaded.

"And if you try to break into their homes to steal, to set fires, I'm highly recommending they blow you back out of the house with guns.

"So, leave the community alone."

Sheriff Judd (above) said rumours had been circulating online that rioters planned on bringing violence into the neighbourhoods.

"We are going to hunt you down and lock you up if you engage in any criminal conduct," he added.

Sheriff tossed batons away to join protesters

A MICHIGAN sheriff removed his helmet and tossed his batons aside to join George Floyd protesters in a moment of solidarity.

"We want to be with y'all for real, so I took the helmet off and laid the batons down," Genesee County Sheriff Christopher Swanson said at demonstrations in Flint Township.

Swanson said he saw an officer fist-bump a marcher, so he took off his riot gear and walked up to one of the leaders.

"And I said, 'What else do I need to do?' and he said, 'Walk with us,'" Swanson said.

"The best moment of my police career is when I said, 'Let's walk.'

"And we walked over a mile back to where it started and I could feel an instantaneous peace on both sides."

TV falls silent

RADIO stations and TV channels changed their programmes yesterday to mark "Blackout Tuesday", reflecting on George Floyd's death in police custody.

MTV went silent for eight minutes – the time a white cop knelt on Mr Floyd's neck – while This Morning showed a black screen with the words "Black Lives Matter".

THROW THE BOOK AT THEM: President Trump's photocall yesterday

By BRAD CHADWICK in Washington DC

NOT since the anti-Vietnam riots of 1968 has there been anything like this...

Flames licking at the front gates of the White House, 75 US cities ablaze, curfews, tear gas, rubber bullets and even the Chinese government denouncing the Land of the Free's human rights record.

When white cop Derek Chauvin choked the life out of black man George Floyd in Minneapolis on May 25, he threw a match on a powder keg.

Already living in fear over COVID-19, facing Depression era-levels of unemployment and resentful over decades of racial inequality, the United States exploded.

And Donald Trump, the man who promised to "Make America Great Again" cowered in a White House bunker.

When the Commander-in-chief emerged, after protesters had been cleared to salvoes of tear gas, he proceeded to pour petrol on the flames.

President Trump threatened to send in the military to quell growing civil unrest.

He said if cities and states failed to control the protests and "defend their residents" he would deploy the army and "quickly solve the problem for them".

He made a televised address to the nation vowing a tough response to nationwide disorder and walked to St. John's Church to hold up a Bible for news crews while flanked by police.

Victims

The President declared: "The biggest victims of the rioting are peace loving citizens in our poorest communities, and as they are president, I will fight to keep them safe. I will fight to protect you. I am your president of law and order and an ally of all peaceful protesters."

There was little law and order to be found across the US.

In New York, the iconic Macy's department store was broken into by a mob while across the country, small shopkeepers watched powerless as their livelihoods were torn to shreds by rioters.

Earlier, Mr Trump had agreed with Arkansas Senator Tom Cotton who suggested sending in the 101st Airborbne Division – the "Screaming Eagles" immortalised in the World War Two series Band of Brothers – against rioters.

Sen Cotton tweeted: "Anarchy, rioting, and looting needs to end tonight. If local law enforcement is overwhelmed and needs backup, let's see how tough these Antifa terrorists are when they're facing off with the 101st Airborne Division. We need to have zero tolerance for this destruction."

The President replied: "100% Correct. Thank you Tom!"

However, Trump's warning was met with swift criticism from senior Democrats.

Joe Biden, the presumptive presidential candidate, said Mr Trump "was using the American military against the American people".

Derek Chauvin has been charged with third-degree murder and will appear in court next week. Three other police officers have been fired.

UK coronavirus deaths fall by a third in 1 week

THE number of weekly deaths from coronavirus in England and Wales fell by almost a third in a week and reached its lowest level for seven weeks, official figures show.

There were 2,589 COVID-19 deaths in England and Wales registered in the week ending May 22, the Office for National Statistics said.

This is down 32% from the previous seven days, with 3,810 coronavirus deaths registered in the week ending May 15.

The ONS said there were 12,288 deaths registered in England and Wales in the week ending May 22 – a drop of 2,285 from the previous week but still 2,348 more than the five-year average.

There were 1,289 excess deaths in care homes during the seven days, compared with the five-year average, and 24 fewer deaths in hospitals.

In total, the ONS said there have been 286,759 deaths to date in England and Wales – 51,466 more than the five-year average.

Cheering crowds celebrate going back on booze

LONG queues formed outside shops selling alcohol in South Africa after restrictions on its sale – imposed two months ago as part of measures to fight Covid-19 – were lifted.

Social media posts showed people cheering as buyers emerged with their bottles.

The alcohol ban was to allow police and hospitals to better focus on tackling the coronavirus.

Booze-fuelled violence is a huge problem in South Africa.

Doctors and police say the ban has had a dramatic impact, contributing to a sharp drop in casualty admissions.

Oxfam 'excited' to take people's lockdown clutter

OXFAM has asked people to call ahead before donating goods, because storage space at its network of charity shops might be limited.

Oxfam stores will begin reopening in England from June 15.

The charity said there would be space for social distancing, while staff and volunteers would have PPE.

All surfaces, doors and equipment will be regularly cleaned and donated items will be isolated for 72 hours.

Oxfam GB chief executive Danny Sriskandarajah said it was aware people had been "busy decluttering under lockdown" and the charity was excited about receiving donations.

FOWL FLAK: Dr Greger

Boffin warns coronavirus death toll is chicken feed compared to coming bird plague

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

MOVE over coronavirus... the deadliest threat to mankind is CHICKEN.

A best-selling boffin claims an apocalyptic virus from poultry farms could dwarf the Covid-19 pandemic and kill HALF of the world's population...

That's four BILLION people.

Dr Michael Greger, a scientist and campaigning nutritionist, claims our close connection to animals makes us vulnerable to the worst kind of epidemic.

Spreading

Coronavirus spread around the world like wildfire and has killed nearly 367,000 people after it is believed to have jumped to humans from bats.

But the best-selling author of How Not To Die says the real plague that could wipe out half of us is yet to come.

Dr Greger insists that "with pandemics explosively spreading a virus from human to human, it's never a matter of if, but when".

In his new book, How To Survive A Pandemic, he says that "as long as there is poultry, there will be pandemics", adding: "In the end, it may be us or them."

The scientist advocates the benefits of a plant-based diet and predicts that diseases harboured by chickens could nearly wipe us out.

During the H5N1 bird flu in Hong Kong in 1997, the government sought to kill 1.3million chickens to eliminate the virus.

But it has never been fully conquered and outbreaks still occur.

Vegan Dr Greger thinks changing the way chickens are farmed would help prevent another outbreak.

Mass farms – where chickens live in such tight spaces they cannot flap their wings – and the high ammonia level from their droppings are a recipe for disease, he says.

He says we need to shift from the mass production of chickens to smaller flocks raised in less crowded spaces, while "unnatural egg" production and breeding also need to end.

But he warns that may still not be enough, as the viral link between chickens and humans ultimately needs to be broken.

Dr Greger said: "The more animals are jammed together, the more spins the virus may get at the roulette wheel while gambling for the pandemic jackpot that may be hidden in the lining of the chickens' lungs."

His warning comes as the number of infections from the coronavirus have passed six million worldwide, with 366,928 deaths.

GRAVE CRISIS: Covid-19 victims buried in New York

...AND NOW EBOLA'S BACK, TOO!

SCARY TIMES: Another deadly virus to combat

AUTHORITIES in Congo are reporting a new outbreak of Ebola in the western part of the African nation.

The World Health Organization said it has a "surge team" in the city of Mbandaka, where six cases of the deadly virus have been identified.

Four of those victims have died and two are still being treated.

"This is a reminder that Covid-19 is not the only health threat people face," declared WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus.

"Although much of our attention is on the pandemic, WHO is continuing to monitor and respond to many other health emergencies."

Mbandaka, a city of 1.5 million people on the Congo River, is about 620 miles from North Kivu province, where an earlier and ongoing outbreak of Ebola has killed more than 2,200.

The new outbreak is the eleventh in the Democratic Republic of Congo since the initial outbreak of the virus near the Ebola River in 1976.

There have been three Ebola outbreaks since 2017 in Congo, which is also battling a measles epidemic that has killed 6,700 people and the coronavirus, which has infected more than 3,000 and killed 72.

Sean wishes he had seen more real sex on TV

NORMAL People actor Sean Doyle says he wishes the TV series was made when he was a teen – to teach him about realistic sex.

Sean (above), 27, from Dublin – who plays hero Connell's pal Eric in the show – says there needs to be more programmes on TV that tackle issues such as safe sex and consent.

He suggested that otherwise, teenagers will continue to learn about sex unhealthily from porn and locker room chat.

Sean said: "We're watching two young people deal with each other in a very healthy way.

"To see people taking such care, where it's Marianne's first time having sex, there's a condom used, there's a of language used like, 'are you sure, are you OK, does it hurt'?

"That's amazing to see, and I can't think of anything I was ever exposed to like that.

"When you're exposed to porn or lad chat, it's all fantasy... it's a toxic one-sided way of seeing sex."

Police fears as paedo hunters sit on evidence

COPS believe "paedophile hunters" are sitting on evidence of child sexual abuse during the Covid-19 lockdown.

Around 90 groups were thought to be active in the UK, carrying out more than 100 undercover stings a month before restriction of movement rules were introduced.

Asst Ch Con Dan Vajzovic, of the National Police Chiefs' Council, said the "vast majority" involve "real world" action, where suspects are confronted, and the encounters posted online.

He said: "We've seen a dramatic decrease in the number of activist group incidents since lockdown.

"We are concerned that activists may be storing up incidents to act upon once lockdown ends.

"We believe that's dangerous for child safety."

BRADFORD CITY STAR IN COURT ON CHILD SEX CHARGE

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A FOOTBALLER who was sacked by Bradford City has appeared in court accused of a sex offence against a 14-year-old girl.

Tyrell Robinson, 22, is charged with engaging in penetrative sexual activity with a child, making an indecent image of a child and two counts of distributing an indecent image of a child.

Robinson, from South Ockendon, Essex, appeared at Bradford Magistrates' Court by videoe link.

Touching

The case was sent to Bradford Crown Court and will he heard on June 16.

Robinson could not be heard in the courtroom but signalled with his hand to confirm his name, date of birth and address during the 10-minute hearing.

The winger, who was sacked by League Two club Bradford earlier this year when the allegations came to light, listened as the court clerk read the details of the charges against him.

Robinson is accused of sexually touching a 14-year-old girl in Bradford on August 13, 2018. On the same date, he is accused of making and distributing an indecent image of a child via Snapchat.

He is also charged with distributing an indecent photograph of a child in a video sent by WhatsApp on December 17, 2017.

District Judge Richard Clews told Robinson: "This case will be sent to Bradford Crown Court. You must appear there in person on 16 June."

Another man, Korrie Berman, 21, from Essex, faces five charges of assault by penetration on a 14-year-old girl.

Grindr loses 'racist' filter

BUMMING app Grindr says it will remove the "ethnicity filter" from the next version of its app, following years of criticism from its users.

The app currently lets people filter potential matches according to their age, height, weight and ethnicity.

But critics say the ethnicity filter fuels discrimination and that the app does too little to tackle racism.

Announcing the change, Grindr said it had a "zero-tolerance policy for racism and hate speech" on its platform.

Grindr specialises in dating for gay, bisexual and trans people.

IS UNDERARM HAIR THE PITS?

By COLIN HURST news@sundaysport.co.uk

SHE’S a self-confessed beauty addict but at the end of March former Big Brother star Aisleyne Horgan-Wallace had to join the rest of the UK in lockdown.

That meant no bikini waxer, no crimper and no make-up artist to keep her looking stunning.

But rather than howl at the moon, Aisleyne decided to embark on a “beauty detox” and even ditched shaving in the hope of having a healthier relationship with her looks, to be “a little-less shallow and vain and to no longer care what people think.”

That meant her legs, armpits and presumably even her badger, grew bushier.

She said: “I look a mess! My armpits look like the Amazon jungle, my leg hair keeps giving me static, my hair’s turned into one huge dreadlock – and I’m not even going to talk about my bikini line!

“It shows how useless I am. I don’t know how to blowdry my hair, how to do my make-up or how to make my nails look good, which is why I pay someone to do it for me.”

But it’s the armpit hair part that has really gripped Britain’s imagination.

Last year, Aisleyne GAGGED on Good Morning Britain when she was confronted by a woman with hairy pits.

Yet now she’s joined the likes of Madonna, Miley Cyrus and Julia Roberts in showing off her bushy underarms.

It’s an issue that divides people, which was proved when we asked two glamour babes their opinion...

GLAMOUR babe Jessica Jay says she would NEVER let her underarm hair grow, less still show off hairy pits in public.

The 32C-24-32 from Sunderland laughed: “There’s a name of people with hairy armpits – MEN!

“I always associate hairy armpits with dungaree-wearing feminists who don’t use deodorant and who eat lentil soup.

“It’s about self-care and being presentable, isn’t it? Underarm hair on a woman just looks like she does not care about how she appears – and that’s not me.”

FETISH model Kitty Bush could not disagree more.

The 32B porn babe from Seattle in the USA said: “It’s fair to say my hairy underarms – and my other VERY hairy bits – have paid for my house!

“I have thousands of male fans who write to me all the time to say they love the au naturel look. Being as nature intended makes me feel sexy.

“I was in a film where a guy came into my armpit hair – it remains my most-watched clip.

1,000 Iraq 'war crimes' dismissed

MORE than a thousand war crime accusations tabled against British soldiers in Iraq have been dismissed, with just one case remaining to be resolved, the director of the Service Prosecution Authority (SPA) has said.

Former lawyer Phil Shiner made more than 1,000 claims involving the British military following the invasion of Iraq in 2003.

But SPA director Andrew Cayley said independent investigators had since dismissed almost all of those allegations due to the "low level" of offending and a lack of credible evidence.

Mr Cayley said it was "quite possible" the accusations will ultimately result in zero prosecutions.

Mr Shiner (above) was struck off as a solicitor in 2007 after being found guilty of misconduct and dishonesty relating to false abuse claims against British troops.

"My sense is these matters are coming to a conclusion," Mr Cayley said.

M62 nutter drove at 151mph during virus lockdown

TWO-THIRDS of Britain's police forces caught people driving in excess of 100mph during the first three weeks of the coronavirus lockdown.

Police data obtained by the RAC revealed that the highest speed was clocked at 151mph on the M62 motorway in West Yorkshire – 81mph over the limit.

The next fastest recorded speed was 140mph on the A14 in Suffolk.

The other five forces which detected motorists driving at more than 130mph were Gwent, Kent, Northamptonshire, Staffordshire and the Metropolitan Police.

RAC road safety spokesman Simon Williams said: "Some drivers have taken advantage of quieter roads to speed excessively, putting the lives of others at risk."

It seems no surprise that Kim has channelled her time by the sea for a 'naked' pic, which she posted to Instagram.

Looking bronzed from her time in the sun, Kim holds a white-flowered garland over her ample assets, while a green parrot perches on her shoulder getting a bird's eye view of her massive breasts.

But not everyone took the picture in the innocent spirit it was intended.

And one troll took to the comments page of the Daily Mirror to cast a naughty aspersion.

Calling himself HoratioCummerband4 the user leered: "Well, she's used to a cockatoo".

That's presumably a reference to the 2007 sex tape, Kim Kardashian, Superstar, that made her a famous name.

In the tape, Kim romps with singer-actor Ray J.

One pal of the star said: "Really! Kim is a serious entrepreneur and not some sort of two-bit harlot!

"There is no excuse for people to make this kind of avian-related sex slur about her."

Here for the Beer!

MADISON Beer's music career began at the age of 13 when Justin Bieber tweeted a link to a cover she performed on YouTube.

But she's ALL grown up now!

The 21-year-old is poised to release her debut album, Life Support – and here are the pics for the cover artwork!

Madison said: "With my album, I made a promise to myself that this is going to be my time to express honestly and truthfully how I've been feeling.

"I could finally tell my story the way I wanted to tell it and touch on things like medications that are harmful for young adults that I've been put on, and real shit I've never been able to talk about"

But a fan said: "TITS!"

KIM BANS TEEN SEX!

DEATH THREAT: Kim will punish 'impure acts'

'Nookie is treason', declares nutcase North Korea dictator

By BRAD CHADWICK in Seoul
news@sundaysport.co.uk

HIS people may be starving and his tinpot kingdom faces imminent nuclear evaporation but Kim Jong-un is getting in a froth about TEEN SEX!

The cheese-loving North Korean despot – who many experts believe is actually DEAD – has lashed out at "immorality" and "impure acts" among teenagers.

What's more, the 36-year-old tyrant has described teen sex as TREASON – a crime punished by DEATH in the madcap Stalinist state.

Blaming "decadent capitalist influences" – including porn smuggled over the Chinese border – Kim suggested that parents and teachers could face punishment if they fail to control teens' behaviour.

Immoral

"Recently more and more high school boys and girls are engaging in immoral sexual deviance and the Central Committee of the Korean Workers' Party has issued a directive calling for strong measures against them," a source said.

"The reason behind this order is the local Kimilsungist-Kimjongilist Youth League in Sinuiju inspected high school students and found that some high school boys and girls hang out with local gangsters, live together, and commit immoral acts such as prostitution," the source said.

"The immoral sexual behaviour of students, who are influenced by capitalist lifestyles, has become a problem.

"The committee defined sexual promiscuity among teenagers as a treasonous act that helps the enemy to destroy our society.

"And since they are warning of strong punishment, students are shaking with fear."

To stem the rise in "sexual promiscuity", largely due to a rise in electronic media, the committee has "ordered schools to check students for phones or other devices they might have with them", the source said.

This is accomplished using an application called Red Flag, which keeps a record of all sites visited by users and randomly takes screenshots that can be checked by authorities.

Many also blamed the "increase in deviance" on the postponement of the school year amid concerns about the risk posed by coronavirus – although the rogue regime has not officially admitted to having any cases of the illness.

Dad runs over his daughter in drive

A 12-YEAR-OLD girl was seriously hurt when she was run over by her father while sunbathing in the driveway of the family's home.

The girl, who was not immediately identified, was partially run over when her 41-year-old dad pulled up onto the drive after returning from a shopping trip.

The girl, who was airlifted to hospital, is expected to survive, police in Raynham, Massachusetts, said, adding that man hit his young daughter after "not realising" she was there tanning.

The incident remains under investigation, authorities said, but it is unlikely that any charges will be brought.

JADE'S 'MIXED-RACE UNPOPULAR' FEARS

JADE Thirlwall says she refused to talk about her mixed-race heritage after joining Little Mix because she "subconsciously" feared "not being as popular".

The pop star's maternal grandfather is from Yemen and her maternal grandmother is from Egypt, while her father is white.

Jade, 27, from South Shields in Tyne and Wear, said she had felt "ashamed" of her background but now realised she had been uneducated about race issues.

In a podcast, she said: "I think when I then entered the group I subconsciously didn't want to talk about my heritage for fear of not being as popular, which sounds awful to say but I was only 18 and I found it quite hard to talk about it.

"I think it was a lack of education as well. Even now I'm constantly learning what the right things are to say."

FINGERING & WATCHING PORNOS MAKES WOMEN BETTER LOVERS!

THRILL SEEKER: Fingers of fun have 'positive outcomes'

LUCKY scientists spent months interviewing thousands of women about FINGERING.

The spawny bastards asked 2,433 women in the US and Hungary to complete a survey providing information about their sex lives.

They "discovered" the use of pornography does not appear to harm most women's sexual functioning.

In fact, the study provides evidence that pornography use among women is associated with "several positive outcomes".

Study author Sean McNabney, from Valparaiso University in Indiana, said:

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

"This work emerged from an ongoing project examining the relationship between masturbation and partnered sexual activity in women.

"For example, do reasons for masturbating and specific activities during masturbation transfer to partnered relationships, or are these distinct domains of sexual expression?

"In this study, we examined whether frequency of pornography use during masturbation can predict sexual response outcomes such as difficulty reaching orgasm, latency to orgasm, and orgasmic pleasure during both masturbation and partnered sex."

Pornography use during masturbation was found to be more common among premenopausal women, women reporting persistent anxiety or depression, non-heterosexual women, women having two or more partners, and American women.

Aroused

For masturbation, more frequent use of pornography was associated with less difficulty becoming aroused, less orgasmic difficulty, greater time to orgasm, greater orgasmic pleasure, and higher percent of time reaching orgasm.

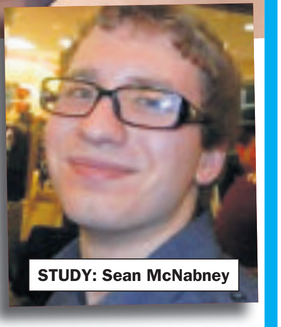
For partnered sex, more frequent use of pornography was associated with less difficulty becoming aroused and greater time to orgasm – but was unrelated to the three other variables.

The results were published in the International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health.

"In our regression models, more frequent pornography use was not associated with lower sexual responsivity," McNabney said.

"In fact, pornography use during masturbation predicted greater ease becoming aroused during partnered sex.

"We also observed no association between pornography and sexual relationship satisfaction, suggesting that the latter is influenced by other factors."



STUDY: Sean McNabney

He concluded: "Thus, these findings challenge the common assumption that pornography is consistently harmful to partnered sexual relationships."

2,000-YEAR-OLD VAMPIRE KILLS MAN IN PRISON

CLAIM: Rudiger

A NUT who claims he is 2,000-year-old vampire and was driven to murder by a need for his victims' blood has been arrested for killing a man in jail.

Joshua Rudiger, 42, was detained after he allegedly used a weapon to kill Aaron Coderre, 40, inside the showers of California Health Care Facility in Stockton.

The CHCF is a prison that provides mental healthcare services for the criminally insane and houses around 2,700 people.

Rudiger is already serving a life sentence, after being convicted of murder and attempted murder in 2000.

The charges stem from a series of 1998 stabbings, in which Rudiger went to San Francisco and attacked people at random with a knife.

He stabbed Shirley Dillahunty to death, then slashed the throats of three others – drinking their blood afterwards.

Immortal

Rudiger claimed that by doing this, he would remain immortal.

MURDER: California Health Care Facility

He gave his knives pet names, and sought victims who were either drunk or homeless and sleeping rough.

Rudiger pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity, but a jury rejected the defence and convicted him of murder.

In 2002, Coderre was convicted of murder in Butte County and sentenced to life.

Big Bro doc faces 14yrs for noncing

A PSYCHOLOGIST who appeared on Big Brother has pleaded guilty to child sex abuse.

Bob Montgomery, 75 (above), who was a consultant for the Oz version of the reality show, now faces up to 14 years in prison after admitting the abuse of 12-year-old boys while he was a scoutmaster in Sydney in the 1960s.

He will be sentenced in the NSW District Court later this month on counts of buggery, indecent assault of a male procuring an indecent act.

Before his arrest, Montgomery acted in at least seven Family Court cases as a family report writer or single expert witness, a role that includes assessing the credibility of child sex abuse allegations in custody disputes.

Professor Patrick Parkinson, one of Australia's top family law experts, said it was "obviously very disturbing" that a child sex offender played a role in parenting cases, which could open the way for some custody rulings to be quashed.

The Tunguska asteroid did not hit Earth

THE Tunguska event, a seismic blast that rocked a remote Siberian forest more than a century ago, is believed to have been caused by a meteor that exploded before it hit the ground.

A new study which sheds more light on the asteroid notes it may have never actually hit Earth at all.

The research, published in Monthly Notices of the Royal Astronomical Society, claims the asteroid caused a shock wave that flattened 800 square miles in the Siberian forest within seconds, but it didn't hit Earth as it curved away shortly before breaking up, continuing into space.

The 1908 blast is estimated to have been 10 megatons, and while no injuries were reported, some 80 million trees were levelled.

SERIAL killer Anthony Kirkland burned the corpses of those he slaughtered in a bid to 'purify' his soul. But it will take more than flames to erase the memories of the callous rapes and murders of the five innocent women he torched...

MONSTERS OF DEATH ROW
THE WORLD'S MOST EVIL MURDERERS AND THE HORRIFIC CRIMES THAT SAW THEM SENTENCED TO EXECUTION...

IF you're one of the many people who believe the length of a prison sentence should never be reduced no matter how much 'good behaviour' an inmate shows, then you might want to look away now.

In 1987, industrial worker Anthony Kirkland killed his girlfriend Leola Douglas, 27.

He raped and strangled her before setting her body on fire.

It was a crime that shook Hamilton County, Ohio.

By KOURTNEY KENNEDY
news@sundaysport.co.uk

When Kirkland pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of manslaughter, he was sentenced to 25 years in prison.

Just 16 years later, however, Kirkland was a free man.

As of September 2003, he was given a second chance, an opportunity to start making amends for his crimes.

So how did Kirkland repay the trust of those who deemed it appropriate to free him from incarceration?

He went on a rape and murder spree that claimed another four victims – two of whom were teenagers.

Each one was raped and then engulfed in flames.

As he himself told cops: "I can't control me. Fire purifies. I can't keep happiness."

Even after confessing to his crimes, it still proved hard for justice to come his way.

Sick

He was first handed a death sentence in 2010, only for that to be overturned.

It took until August last year for him to be placed back on Death Row when Judge Patrick Dinkelacker told him: "If we as people, as believers of law and justice, are going to have the death penalty imposed on the worst of the worst, then if not you, Anthony Kirkland, who?"

Did Kirkland offer an apology? Not at all.

He simply moaned about how little money he had available to him in prison.

Judge Dinkelacker snapped: "It makes me sick to my stomach to have you stand here and talk about your money in prison when we're talking about 13 and 15-year-old kids that you killed."

Upon his sentencing, Tanika Crawford – the mother of 15-year-old victim Casonya Crawford – broke down and wept.

She said: "He took a lot of light from us. Casonya was a joy. She honestly was.

"I was thinking on the way here about those chubby cheeks and them big ol' bright eyes. It's just hard."

Kirkland, now 49, is due to be put to death in March next year.

Prosecuting lawyer Joe Deters said: "I've now tried four serial killers in my life and, for me, Anthony Kirkland cannot be killed by the state of Ohio soon enough."

As is the case with many serial killers, Kirkland had suffered a horrific childhood.

His lawyer, Tim Cutcher, told jurors how Kirkland had been physically abused by an alcoholic father for eight years from the age of six, suffering 'head injuries in repeated beatings'.

Cutcher said: "As the oldest of four children, Kirkland bore the brunt of his temperamental outbursts."

To make matters worse, Kirkland had also suffered several accidents which caused further head injuries, exacerbating his mental trauma.

Aged 17 and working at an industrial container recycling firm, he'd fallen and cracked his skull, resulting in severe memory loss.

In 2004, shortly after he'd left prison, he crashed a motorbike and broke several bones in his face.

A girlfriend at the time described how Kirkland began to suffer horrific headaches and 'became a completely different person'.

He lost his job, was told to stop going to church and ended up homeless, living in a van.

Kirkland's first killing was brutal.

And according to Leonard Douglas – Leola Douglas's twin brother – it was a murder that Kirkland simply went on to 're-enact' four more times.

Speaking recently, Leonard said: "It never should have happened.

"After what he did to my sister, I feel like he should never have got out of jail.

"He just got a slap on the wrist, then he turned around and did the same thing to four other girls.

"I know how hard it is on the other families – they've still got fresh

NO REMORSE: At his trial, killer Kirkland moaned about having little money in prison wounds. My wounds are old, but they still hurt just as bad."

Between 2006 and 2009, Kirkland went on to slay Casonya Crawford, 15, Mary Jo Newton, 45, Kimya Rolison, 25, and Esme Kenney, 13.

Esme, the final victim, was raped and murdered while on a short half-mile run around a reservoir close to her home.

Her mother, Lisa Kenney, recalled how she went searching for her missing daughter that fateful afternoon in March 2009.

She told jurors: "Esme was the baby of the family. She would still come and sleep in my bed every morning.

Abducted

"She'd been excited. She wanted to go running because the weather was gorgeous.

"She was trying to get me to go around the reservoir with her. She was like, 'Let's go for a run!'

"I didn't know how much time passed, but I suddenly sat up and thought, 'Oh my God, Esme isn't back'. I just knew something was wrong.

"I ran across the street barefoot. There was a tree and I saw a big pair of jeans underneath.

"I immediately thought she'd been abducted."

Police were alerted. A short while later, Kirkland was found nonchalantly sitting under a nearby tree, cradling Esme's iPad and watch.

The next morning, Esme's body was found.

When Kirkland was arrested and charged with murder, he soon began to blurt out details of his other atrocities.

Casonya's gran had called police when the teen didn't return home from her friend's house one night in May 2006.

Her body was found in a wooded area, burned beyond all recognition.

Her front teeth had been knocked out.

A month later, police had another body – that of Mary Jo Newton.

She had been set ablaze from the waist down, so detectives did not know whether she had been sexually abused.

In December 2006, Kimya Rolison vanished from home.

Her body wasn't found until two years later.

Again it was badly burned and pathologists also revealed she'd been stabbed through the neck.

Police actually had Kirkland in custody in May 2007 – five months after Kimya's death – but for completely unrelated reasons.

He spent 115 days in jail after he threatened to kill his 18-month-old son and held a 'sharp grilling fork' to his neck, court documents state.

After his release, he was soon arrested once more – this time for offering to pay his friend's young daughter for sex.

He was hit with a public indecency charge and spent the next 12 months in jail.

The mayhem only continued on his release.

On March 1, 2009, he broke into a man's home and repeatedly stabbed him with scissors, according to police documents.

Kirkland wasn't found until a week later – by which time he'd already murdered Esme.

After many hours of coaxing, Kirkland finally admitted everything.

Speaking about Esme, he said: "Things kinda got out of hand.

"It was an accident – my temper."

Even after Kirkland had viciously assaulted her, Esme had tried to barter for her life.

Kirkland added: "She offered me her watch. She was apologetic.

"I know I kicked her and punched her in the stomach. I stomped her. I punched her a couple of times.

"Can I take you to where she is?"

Kirkland was handed life sentences for the murders of Kimya and Mary Jo, and given death sentences for the killings of Esme and Casonya.

That's in spite of his defence lawyer, Rich Wendel, pleading in court: "Judge, you heard testimony that his brain structures were actually different.

"He has evolved differently. His brain became, for a lack of a better term, just not normal any more."

In the end, it was Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge Charles Kubicki who summed up the case best.

"That was a very, very difficult trial because it was so horrific," he concluded.

"It's a case I won't forget.

"A lot of times you think your imagination is worse than reality – but in this particular case, the reality was way worse than anything your imagination could come up with."

TATTOOED LESBIANS SNATCHED GIRL FOR SEX

CAUGHT: Tattoo (below) got Heinrichs nicked

By GRACE HOOPER

news@sundaysport.co.uk

TWO burly tattooed lesbians snatched a woman from the street and drove to a remote spot, where they beat up and sexually assaulted her before leaving her for dead.

Police were called to an address in the rural municipality of West St. Paul, outside Winnipeg, Canada, at 4.30am.

Officers say a 32-year-old woman was assaulted in Winnipeg, forcibly taken to West St. Paul, assaulted again and then left in a ditch.

The blood-soaked woman managed to crawl to a nearby home and ask for help.

Injuries

She was taken to hospital with serious injuries.

Two days later, officers arrested Hillary Harper in connection with the assault.

She has been charged with attempted murder, kidnapping, aggravated assault, forcible confinement and sexual assault.

The 33-year-old was remanded into custody.

But Harper refused to divulge any information about her accomplice and cops put out an appeal to the public.

Two days later, Amy Heinrichs, 39, was arrested and also charged with attempted murder, aggravated assault, kidnapping, forcible confinement and sexual assault.

It's believed a member of the public spotted Heinrichs' distinctive tattoo on her burly arm.

A police source said: "It appears Heinrichs had been holed up in the wilderness somewhere and when they brought her in, jeez, did she smell."

The pair will appear in court later this week.

But at the weekend, as coronavirus lockdown didn't so much relax as completely collapse, we found out what people are like when presented with a sunny, sandy shore.

They turn into absolute dickheads.

Photographer friends of mine were out and about on duty capturing sickening images of the mess these morons left behind.

Cooler boxes. Full crates of surprisingly unconsumed beer. Johnnies, butties, crisp bags, the odd stolen motorbike, a washing machine and a partridge in a pear tree.

If you went down to a beach at the weekend and left behind anything other than a footprint, have a quick look in the mirror.

I can 100 per cent guarantee you are staring at a twat.

PAEDO pal Prince Andrew won't be going back to "work" ever again, according to reports.

How will we all cope?

IF you weren't littering beaches, perhaps you were tempted to join in the protests in London in support of the riots in the United States over the outrageous death-by-cop of George Floyd.

If so, though, why?

Donald Trump doesn't even care that he looks and sounds ridiculous.

If you think he's going to listen to your bleating from 6,000 miles away in Ing-ger-land, you're even thicker than the butty-chuckers.

Nutter trashes school during 24-hour sh*t smearing spree

A NAKED loon spent a whole 24 HOURS vandalising a school while stark NAKED.

Matthew Crandall (above) had on just a pair of headphones while he trashed classrooms, pulled lockers from walls and smeared his own SHIT over science labs.

He continued the rampage for a full day with nobody noticing and the first caretakers knew was when they came in to Miramar High School in Florida on Monday morning.

Cops put out a CCTV grab of the suspect and Crandall was soon identified and arrested.

The 21-year-old, of North Fort Myers, has since been charged with burglary and criminal mischief.

It is unclear how police came to arrest Crandall, and it is still unknown what his motivation was to vandalise the school.

The cost of the damage has been put at around £80,000.

Fact me!

Naked joyrider's ambulance crash

POLICE arrested a man after he stripped naked, stole an ambulance and then crashed the vehicle into an immigrants' cultural centre.

According to cops, paramedics en route to get supplies noticed a male who was in obvious need of help.

Within a minute of attempting to render aid, the man became violent towards the paramedics and made his way into the nearby ambulance and drove off in Winnipeg, Canada.

Paramedics fearing for their safety pushed the emergency buttons on their radios that summon police after they were threatened by the suspect.

The ambulance collided with a cultural centre for Portuguese people a short distance away.

Police arrested the man on scene and he was transported to hospital by another paramedic crew.

The damage to the ambulance is extensive.

CARDINAL SIN!

Cardinal – BBC2, Wednesdays, 9pm

COP THESE... Bet TV tec would love to see sidekick Lise in similar nude scenes

Star of BBC2 drama is stripped and sexy

By SIMON DEAN
simon@sundaysport.co.uk

CANADA...

This proud member of Britain's Commonwealth is best known for policemen in red tunics, moose, snow – and sadistic murder.

Boffins have calculated that Canadians are 6 per cent more murderously cruel than their nearest rival, the Belgians.

So it's the ideal place to set a noir murder series like Cardinal, continuing tonight on BBC2.

In the current series, Detective John Cardinal is on the trail of a killer motived by a decades-old grudge.

The murders are, as you would expect from the Canucks, grisly and cruel.

And they do nothing to lift the mood of Detective Cardinal, who is none too chipper anyway, what with his wife having been murdered and everything.

But at least Cardinal has sexy sidekick Lise Delorme, played by Karine Vanasse, to keep him warm through that long Canadian winter.

And the moody tec might even crack a smile if he had a look at 36-year-old Karine's previous roles.

Because back in 2011, Karine got them out in two thrillers called Switch and Angle Mort.

A fan said: "She's French Canadian, you see. And French is French – even when they're up to their chins in snow, they get their teats out.

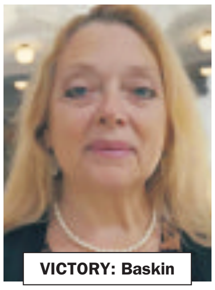
"Can't help it. In the blood, you see."

TIGER KING JOE LOSES HIS ZOO

CAROLE Baskin is declaring victory over her nemesis Joe Exotic after a court ruling which will allow her to take over the eccentric big cat aficionado's zoo.

A federal judge granted Baskin's Big Cat Rescue control of the G.W. Exotic Animal Memorial Park in Wynnewood, Oklahoma, after determining the property had been fraudulently transferred years ago to Joe Exotic's own mother, Shirley Schreibvogel, to avoid paying Baskin a previous $1 million trademark judgment.

JAILED: Joe Exotic



VICTORY: Baskin

Joe Exotic – whose real name is Joseph Maldonado-Passage – rose to fame earlier this year at the centre of hit Netflix documentary series Tiger King.

He was convicted last year of attempting to kill Baskin by hiring a hitman and is currently serving a 22-year jail sentence.

Schreibvogel admitted in 2015 that "the zoo land was fraudulently transferred to her by Joe Maldonado in 2011 to avoid his creditors".

The park is currently under the control of Jeff Lowe, who has 120 days to vacate the premises and remove all the animals on the property.

It recently closed due to the coronavirus pandemic, but reopened last month to huge crowds who flocked to the site after Tiger King became a huge quarantine sensation.

But soon after, the founder of PETA vowed to close the park for good after its reopening.

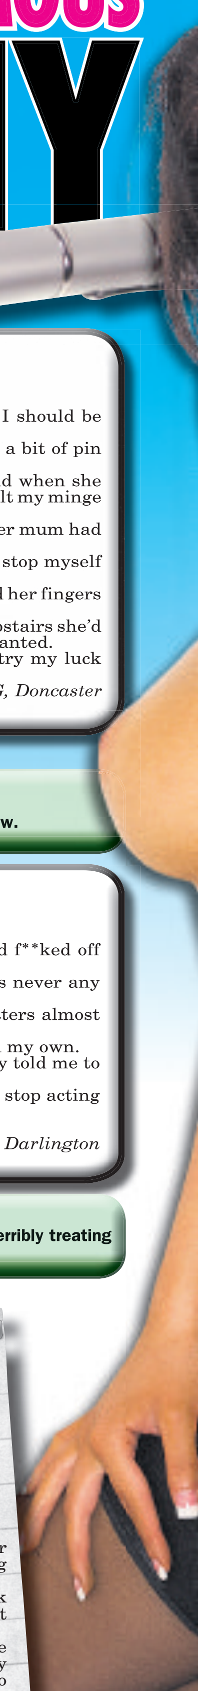
THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page



Dear Ashleigh,

MY hubby's a salesman and he's always telling me that I should be thankful for all he does for me.

So I got a job of my own delivering for a local florist for a bit of pin money.

My first call was the house of a girl getting married and when she answered the door she was in stockings and sussies and I felt my minge moisten.

She was in a tizzy as she couldn't zip up her dress and her mum had gone out for some last minute blue garters.

She asked if I wouldn't mind helping her and I couldn't stop myself from feeling her boob.

To my surprise, she in turn slid her hand up my dress and her fingers entered my gushing gash.

The moment didn't last, as her mum got back shouting upstairs she'd got the garters but it was in turquoise, not the blue she wanted.

This was a fortnight ago and I don't know if I should try my luck again.

NG, Doncaster

Ashleigh says…

BE careful. You're both married women now.

Dear Ashleigh,

I CAME out of prison a week ago and found my mate had fked off with my girlfriend.

I'm gutted as we'd been together for ages and there was never any inkling of anything being wrong between us.

I'd get visits every week without fail and there were letters almost daily.

I'm so cut up about this as I don't think I can survive on my own.

I was pouring out my feelings to my mother and she only told me to "Grow up an act like a man".

She said it wasn't the end of the world and that I should stop acting like a child.

But best mates don't come along every day, do they?

JG, Darlington

Ashleigh says…

NO they certainly don't. And yours acted terribly treating you in this way.

How can I get to drill my sexy new dentist?

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE always been afraid of going to the dentist's but now I just can't stay away from the bloody place.

The reason for this is because I've fallen for the new tooth doctor in our local precinct.

She's blonde and curvy, and the moment I set eyes on her I wanted to drill her.

As I sat in the chair she set about my gnashers like she really enjoyed doling out the pain and as I yelped in pain she filled my gob with metal.

I had this idea that in her private time she was a bit of a dominatrix, dressing in PVC and whipping mens' knobs.

Anyway, once it was all over I was off home and yanking one off the wrist.

Since then I've been back complaining of toothache at every opportunity.

The upside is that she brushes her big tits across my face as she delves deep into my cavities.

What makes it worse is I pay for my treatment and it's costing me a fortune.

Am I doing this right?

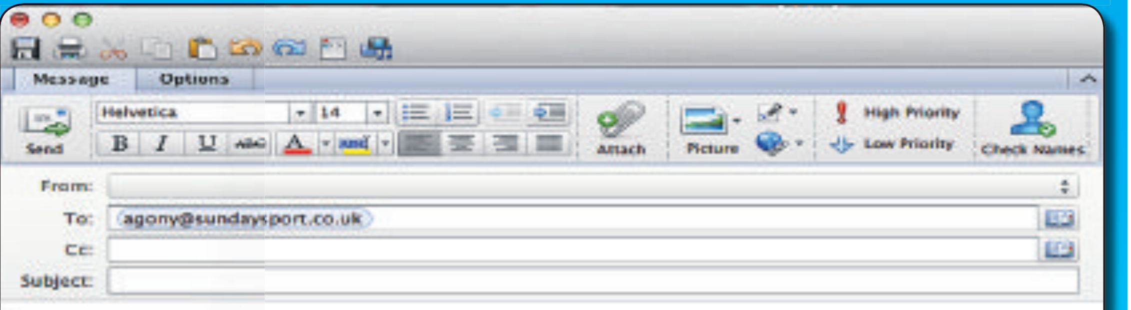
DH, email

Ashleigh says…

WHY not just ask her out for a drink? If you carry on like this she'll have all your teeth replaced and you won't be able to afford to take her anywhere.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week ASHLEIGH GEE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you…



To: agony@sundaysport.co.uk

My work's suffering after bonking mature students

Dear Ashleigh,

I'M a geography student and on my university course are a couple of housewives who've signed on as mature students.

One is 40 and blonde with a nice body. The other is 44, has dark hair and enormous tits.

I recently got to spend quite a lot of time with them as we had to do a joint project.

After a hard day in the library, with plenty of not too subtle flirting going on between us all, I invited them back to my flat to continue our work.

We cracked open some beers and were chatting when the blonde who was sitting next to me on the sofa suddenly leaned across and kissed me, unzipped my jeans and started playing with my knob.

Naturally, despite the surprise I soon stiffened up in response to her firm grip and slow but measured wanking of my tool.

The brunette then stripped of her jeans and knickers and and fiddled with her wet fanny while the blonde sucked me off slowly.

It was really only a few minutes she was doing it yet I was just about to come when the blonde stopped sucking, got up and started to enjoy lesbo action with the other bird.

My cock was throbbing like hell as they peeled off the rest of their clothes, kissed each other's tits and licked each other out.

Glistening

At this point I got fully undressed myself and stood near them, my cock proudly standing to attention and glistening.

I was straining to have a go at both of them and I managed to enter the blonde from behind as she played with her pal.

I was shafting her nicely when the brunette took my hand and plunged my fingers up her dripping chuff.

It was difficult maintaining a rhythm as I'd never had a threesome before. But I struggled through!

This sexual frenzy lasted through the evening and I lost count of the number of times I managed to bring them to orgasm and the number of times they did the same for me.

They explained that they had both fancied me from the start.

Neither had been willing to make the first move but they had egged each other on so much that they had decided to go for it together.

They enjoyed the night so much that we are now having regular shagging sessions.

But our work is suffering and we have all had warnings.

Any suggestions about how we can manage our time better?

Mum and girl romp was a bed-breaker

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE had some of the wildest sexual experiences of my life in the saucy seaside town of Blackpool.

I go to the Lancashire resort every year on my holidays and never fail to get my end away.

Last week I was there with some mates and we ended up at a club for a late booze, when all the other places had closed for the evening.

There were loads of busty women in those glittery 70s wigs and they were all dancing on the tables with their knickers on full view.

They really didn't give a shit what anyone thought, bless 'em!

In the club I copped off with a couple of tasty ladies who I later found out were mother and daughter – which blew my mind a bit at the time.

Well, they didn't really look like a typical mother and daughter – the mum was in pretty good shape, with nice tits and good legs.

I'd put the mum in her early 40s and her fit, big-titted daughter was about 23.

Anyway, we had a few beers together and a really good laugh. The pair of them swore like troopers and were soon headed back to my B&B for wild sex!

The girls stripped off as soon as we got to my room and we were at it for hours. The pair of them were so energetic we broke the bed!

Now the landlord is after me to pay for a new one, and I don't know the girls' address to ask them to ask them to help with the cost. Any suggestions?

SW, Inverness

Ashleigh says…

IT sounds like you had a great night – you might as well pay for the damage, then you can look forward to your trip back there next year!

Dear Ashleigh,

I HAVE a right terrible dilemma. I lost my job a couple of months ago but I didn't tell the missus.

I was on quite a good wage and so we never went short of anything.

We regularly ate out at weekends but now I'm afraid of what she'll do if she finds out I'm doing "other things".

The money we had saved slowly dwindled into an overdraft so to help matters I advertised my services on a website as a masseur.

It's now paying quite well and the bank are happier now that some money's coming in again.

It's a great job, too. Basically it's getting paid to shag women.

The women are nearly all in their early 40s, quite well off, and either have a busy job with no time for relationships or busy husbands who don't service them.

But last week one of my clients knew who I was and who my wife is.

Now she's threatening to tell all unless I do her sessions for free.

I don't have the time to carry on with her as she wants to see me on a daily basis. What should I do?

PB, email

Ashleigh says…

SURE, you should have told your wife about losing your job. Coming clean now is what you need to do – and give her a good 'massaging' while you're at it!

#MY SEX FANTASY

‘I’ll be on all fours begging for his cock to enter me’

...WITH NATASHA MARLEY, 32
32D-25-32
FROM ALDERSHOT

I HAVE a confession: I love anal sex – in fact I’m the queen of bum fun!

I’ll start the night by putting a vibrating butt plug in me before me and my fella head out for a drink or a meal.

Then while we’re out, I’ll hand the remote control to my partner and allow him to turn it on and decide my levels of pleasure, teasing me until we get home and the fun can really begin.

Finger

I love the sensation of his tongue flicking across my bumhole, followed by a finger up there, using lots of lube.

By then I’ll be getting on all fours and just begging for his hard cock to enter me, and when he does I’m in heaven...ooh, a dick moving gently in and out of my arse and increasingly getting faster!

I love putting a dildo in my vagina for some dual stimulation, and even triple stimulation by rubbing my clit.

That combo makes me cum bucketfulls!

#HOT'N'HORNY

MARVELLOUS Millie Fenton has more in common with Kim Kardashian than just sexy curves.

Because the gorgeous 32DD model has also starred in her own saucy SEX TAPE.

And while Kim's X-rated on-screen performance helped make her a global superstar, Millie is hoping her blue movie stays out of the public eye.

The 23-year-old blonde beauty, from Biddulph, Staffordshire, said: "I made a naughty movie many years ago with an ex.

"It was really hot, both filming it and watching it back.

"It makes you want round two. It makes you feel like a naughty porn star!"

Millie says she loves indulging in a spot of role play too.

She added: "I love dressing up. I have a kinky maid uniform, which is my favourite.

"I like to get into role play while wearing it. You have to drop your feather duster and bend over to pick it up!

"I've been tied up and blindfolded – that was so hot.

"I love the element of surprise and not knowing what's coming next."

EXCLUSIVE! The world's poshest porno is here at last!

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Downton Abbey this is your lucky day.

Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.

Down On Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous step-daughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Smallc and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.

But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of noshing as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.

We see plenty of R18 DVDs at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!

This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

GEMMA MASSEY

THERE'S only one thing handyman Christopher Bentley wants to get busy with and that's Gemma Massey's massive boobs.

Christopher, 39, from Leyland, Lancs, is often doing jobs around the community but he's after one big job in Tamworth, Staffs, the home of 32G Gemma, 32.

He said: "Leyland is home and I love helping folk out with small jobs but I'm dying to get my hands on a bit more.

"Not only is Gemma gorgeous but she's got a massive rack on her and I reckon I could spend a whole week playing with her lovely pair!"

CARA STEEL

STUNNING Cara Steel is driving Amir Hussain to distraction during his working hours.

Amir, 40, works as an IT technician but spends most of his time googling 28-year-old St Albans hottie Cara.

He says he can't help staring into her gorgeous brown eyes, but we reckon it might be more to do with her 32E bust.

So Amir, to keep you working here's a corker of a pic of Cara's eyes – with her impressive chest bared too!

EVA PARCKER

RETIRED bus driver Keith Saunders keeps himself ticking over by ogling boobs-out snaps of Eva Parcker.

Keith, 67, from Lincoln says that although he's decades older than 27-year-old Brent beauty Eva, it's her 34D norks which keep him energised.

He said: "Eva is a real cracker, she's right up my street and she's got a right fine pair.

"I drove buses for more than 40 years but I tell you something, I'd happily go for one more ride with Eva!"

CHARLIE McCANN

WITH HIS SPORT ODDS AND ENDS

STRUGGLE: Wagner

BREMEN CAN TAKE A POINT

WERDER Berlin entertain Eintracht Frankfurt in a vital clash near the foot of the Bundesliga table tonight.

Both sides gained valuable away wins at the weekend with Werder gaining a 1-0 win against a poor Schalke side who are now without a win in 11 under David Wagner. He cut a forlorn and lonely figure and I would be surprised if the former Huddersfield boss were still in charge of the Konigsblauen at the start of the 2020/21 season – whenever that might be.

Frankfurt are 31/20 at bet365 with the hosts 7/4 and the draw at 5/2. Frankfurt were beaten semi-finalists in the Europa League last season. They are the better side, but Bremen have fire in their bellies, and I think they will take a point in a low-scoring affair. Paddy Power bet 11/10 there will be over 40 booking points in the game – 10 yellow and 25 red – and that is the recommendation.

Turf racing returns at Yarmouth this afternoon, but the best meeting is at Kempton where the highlight is the 10f Group 3 Classic Trial Stakes which features at least a couple of exciting unbeaten prospects.

John Gosden's Hypothetical was a fluent 5L winner at Chelmsford on debut and his ability to handle today's underfoot conditions are proven. The runner up went one better on his next start, but the form is nothing special and this represents a big step up in grade.

Progressive

If there is a star on show today it is likely to be BORN WITH PRIDE (2.45) who made all to win her sole juvenile start in listed company at Newmarket back in the autumn. That success was gained on heavy ground and her ability to handle today's polytrack surface must be take on trust, but she is clearly held in some regard by connections given she holds Group 1 entries going forward. Her draw in stall eight is less than ideal but I hope "Aussie" Tom Marquand can get his mount into a decent position at the first bend. The William Haggas' trained filly is 2/1 with Unibet.

John Gosden saddles two in the listed Snowdrop Stakes including the progressive Nazeef who won three of her four starts last term and steps up in grade this afternoon. She is drawn poorly in stall 13 – of 14 – however and preference is for her stablemate SCENTASIA (3.55) the mount of Frankie Dettori.

In the Mile Handicap Highfaluting was in tremendous form when last seen in the autumn when he didn't finish out of the first two in four handicaps here over 7f and a mile. The suggestion is that he is slightly better at the shorter trip, however, and he is 4lbs higher than for his last run.

PURGATORY (4.30) may need luck in running from stall one but his record since the application of blinkers reads 1311 and his latest success at York back in October was a career best. He will need to improve given he is 6lb higher in the weights, but he gets the each way vote at 4/1 with Unibet who offer four places.

Lamps wants 20 players in Blues matchday squad

By JOHN ANTHONY

CHELSEA are calling for matchday squads to be boosted to 20 players when the Premier League returns.

The Londoners believe players will struggle to complete games thanks to heat and a lack of fitness.

So it would be a good idea to have eight outfield players sitting on the bench to choose from.

There would still be just five allowed to come on but each manager would have more options.

A similar system exists at the World Cup and Euros where the entire squad is available to bring on.

Chelsea aren't the only team worried about how their players will cope with coming back to restart the season.

Nine rounds of Premier League matches will be squeezed into around six weeks plus the FA Cup and European ties.

That's a lot of football from a standing start and there's every chance that more players will suffer from niggles and strains.

Chelsea have a small squad by their recent standards and it was almost reduced further by Olivier Giroud, who admits he almost left in January.

The French striker stayed at the Bridge and has played more of a part in first-team action since then.

Spurs are thought to have been close to signing the former Arsenal man just before the January window closed.

But Giroud insists he did the right thing by staying in west London — with a little help from above.

He said: "I was supposed to leave in the January transfer window because I wasn't playing much and I needed more game time to make the France squad for Euro 2020.

Replace

"I very nearly left the club but I really think that God wanted me to stay at Chelsea

"The manager told me that he couldn't let me leave because he didn't have anyone to replace me.

"Everyone knows what happened so I won't go back over it but the coach spoke to me privately and told me that he would give more games.

"He kept his word and what then mattered to me was proving to him that he could count on me when I was called upon.

"I simply seized my opportunity and I repaid the faith that the manager had shown in me.

"That's why the club ultimately offered me the chance to continue my time at Chelsea and I accepted immediately because I like it here.

"I want to keep winning trophies and I want to continue to show the manager that he can count on me."

Giroud has been back in full training with his team mates this week and is raring to get the Premier League going again. Exactly two weeks today Arsenal will travel to Manchester City and Aston Villa face Sheffield United.

The veteran is 33 now and admits the new rules are causing a few problems.

Players are only allowed 15 minutes with the physio after training and Giroud would like his aches and pains eased for longer than that.

Circuit

He said: "During lockdown, Chelsea would send us programmes to follow to keep fit.

"I'm lucky enough to live right next to a great park and I went there to run

"Towards the end of this period, the whole team video-called and we did circuit training. I did it at home in the playroom alongside my children. I took a picture of us – it was nice. However, nothing replaces being on the pitch.

"Almost all my team-mates got blisters after resuming training.

"Something else that's changed compared to usual pre-seasons is that we only get 15 minutes of treatment after training.

"Normally in pre-season, you're very demanding with your muscles and use them a lot, especially when you haven't been training for over two months.

"Muscles strain and creak but we respect the rules from the Government and the Premier League.

"I'll admit that if I could have more care and treatment to look after my body, it would be better."

Southampton shout for Ralph

SOUTHAMPTON have given manager Ralph Hassenhuttl a new four-year contract.

The 52-year-old has been in charge at St Mary's for 18 months and has steered the Saints to seven points above the Premier League relegation zone.

The Austrian has won over the doubters and has pledged his future to the club.

Hassenhuttl said: "This, for me, was a simple decision. Simple because of the relationship that I have built with the club, the players and the fans, and also because of the relationship they have built with me too.

"I said when I arrived at the club that we were at the beginning of a long journey, and also a journey that would bring emotion and hopefully enjoyment. We have had some moments where we could celebrate together, and some that have been emotional and challenging.

"The way we have handled this together as a group of people has been incredible for me, and I believe we now have strong foundations here that can allow us to take the next steps in our progress.

"For me, this is an important step in the journey. My players, our staff, and of course the supporters must understand my commitment to this club and to what we are trying to build together.

"We value the same philosophies, and this is a big part of why I want to stay here, and I hope we can share in some successful moments moving forward."

Silverstone at double as F1 hits top gear

FORMULA ONE

SILVERSTONE will host TWO British grands prix in August as Formula One gets back into gear.

The races will take place on August 2 and 9 after an eight-race programme was announced.

All the GPs will be in Europe with Austria's Red Bull Ring hosting the first two contests on July 5 and 12.

Then the sport moves to Hungary on July 19 before the double header at Silverstone.

The calendar is completed by the Spanish Grand Prix on August 16, Belgium two weeks later and Italy on September 6.

All races will be behind closed doors with as few people on the circuit as possible.

Under Formula One rules, eight races comprises a full season so there will be a world championship awarded as usual.

But the sport's owner Liberty Media insists there will be more than the European grands prix with plans to hold 18 events across the world.

Legendary

A Silverstone spokesman said: "We are delighted to share this announcement confirming two consecutive Grand Prixs are to take place at Silverstone.

"Although these will be closed events we are confident that our legendary circuit will provide the perfect setting for a great show for everyone watching at home."

Formula One chairman Chase Carey said: "We are pleased to be able to set out our opening eight-race calendar today and look forward to publishing our full calendar in the coming weeks.

"I want to thank every promoter and partner for their support to Formula 1."

Red Bull team principal Christian Horner is delighted to start the season at their home in Austria.

He said: "Red Bull have pulled out all the stops to get the Austrian Grand Prix up and running, in order to support a safe start to the Formula One season.

"It's a fantastic venue and we are pleased to be starting our championship campaign at our home circuit."

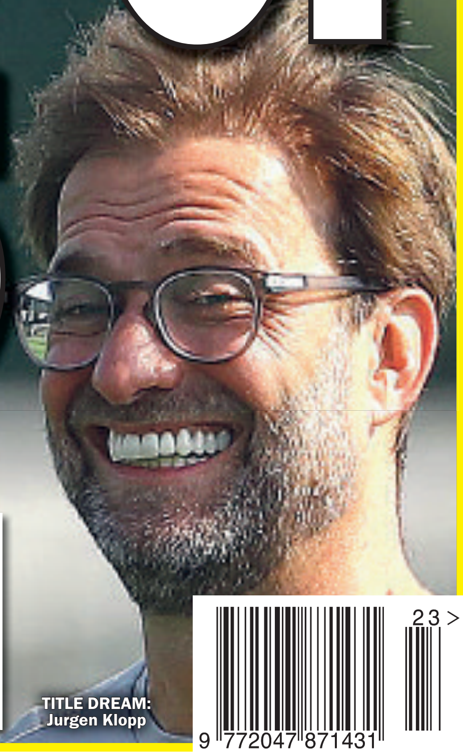
Klopp hopes to win title on home ground



TITLE DREAM: Jurgen Klopp

JURGEN Klopp says he'd love to win the title at Anfield.

But the German understands why Liverpool may have to celebrate on someone else's turf.

The police have expressed concerns that crowds may gather outside Anfield when Liverpool get their hands on a first top-flight title for 30 long years.

Premier League bosses say there WILL be a presentation and Klopp is happy to do that wherever and whenever.

He said: "If people say we cannot play at Anfield because our supporters will go there, come on, we are all adults. We love each other, that's clear. But if it's not allowed, or that's the only chance that we will be able to play or games will not happen, of course we will not show up there."

And he promises there will be a party if Liverpool end their Premier League duck — but it may be some time until it can happen.

The German added: "We want to celebrate it together in the moment, when that's possible, we go again, 100 per cent, with all we have.

"One million, two million, three million, five million, who cares, we'll be there.

"But until then, we stick to the rules, do what is appropriate and that's all, because it's not the last time that we will celebrate something together."
